

Hello,

Over the last few months, Nationwide has continued to provide extraordinary care to your employees in a virtual capacity. We are very encouraged by the tremendous feedback we've received. Recently, many participants joined us for a series of educational workshops, and one item that stood out was the desire for even more webinars. Your Midwest Nationwide team is offering a series of short, actionable virtual workshops. These workshops are not designed to replace the onsite education that we offer but further enhance our educational offerings. Please share the below schedule of events with your employees. The workshops, conducted by our local retirement specialists, are open to all employees. Our ask is that you share the email below with your employees to provide them with additional education resources.

We look forward to "seeing" you at our next Financial Wellness Wednesday.

Nationwide® Please join your Midwest team of retirement specialists for a series of educational workshops to help you prepare for and live in retirement. Financial Wellness Wednesdays are free for you to attend and are designed to provide actionable ideas to help you get and stay on track for retirement.
